

Amanda Bean

Amanda Bean moved to Los Alamos in 2001 and is currently the group leader for the Actinide Manufacturing Group in the Nuclear Component Operations Division at Los Alamos National Laboratory. She has two girls, Ava and Sophia, who have each attended Sage Cottage since infancy. Amanda loves volunteering at Sage Cottage performing science with all the classes, observing the children absorbing like sponges! When not being active with her children, you can find Amanda outdoors working with the canine community.
